International

Founded in 1949, SOS Children's Villages is the world's largest non-governmental organization focused on supporting children and young people without parental care or at risk of losing it.

Child neglect, abuse and abandonment is everywhere. Families are at risk of separation. Locally led, we work in more than 130 countries and territories to strengthen families who are under pressure so they can stay together. When this is not in a child or young person's best interests, we provide quality care according to their unique needs.

Together with partners, donors, communities, children, young people and families, we enable children to grow up with the bonds they need to develop and become their strongest selves. We speak up for each child's rights and advocate for change so all children can grow up in a supportive environment.

Cambodia

Today, we live in a world of stark contrasts, which, on the one hand, is inhabited by people suffering from hunger and poverty, while others spend millions to lose excess weight. We breathe the air of an age where even the most important ethical considerations are neglected, and where immorality is presented under the guise of defending rights. It is children, the most vulnerable segment of any society, who suffer the most from all of the modern world's crises, abuses, moral decay and poverty. Children who have lost one or both parents as a result of the crises caused by human activities or natural reasons, and are hence left vulnerable and exposed, are defenceless in the face of any kind of abuse. Human trafficking, child labour, prostitution and beggar rings are but many of the hazards faced by the orphans.

With the intervention of SOS Children's Villages Cambodia, those children that facing most vulnerable issues are resting on its shoulder. SOS Children's Villages has committed itself to the future success of the children through various programs that help them cope with and succeed with hardship that might otherwise limit their opportunity

With SOS Children's Villages and facilities locating in seven different provinces of Phnom Penh, Siem Reap, Battambang, Ratanakiri, Kratie, Kampot and Prey Veng has committed vast amount of professional and resources to engage children and families through main program of family liked care and family strengthening. The co-workers consist of care providers and community development who all work together to provide a seamless continuum of care and services. These services not only care for children in the Children's Villages but also systematically engage the community, school and home with closed working relationship with local authorities, social services and law enforcement. SOS Children's Villages Cambodia has a unique opportunity to link and communicate with children support system in order to offer care and services designed to coordinate all efforts.

At this time each year, we look back on the previous year and the impact our children have had on us here at SOS Children's Villages, as well as in the community at large. Within this year of report, has brought both achievements and few setbacks to SOS Children's Villages Cambodia includes an effort to expand and improve the provision of existing long-term family liked care as a hub for meeting the vulnerable child care need by focusing on the accessibility and reliability of child care quality services.

Concerning to the government legislation changing in alternative childcare system, SOS Children's Villages Cambodia initially engaged with child welfare department of the social affairs ministry for the process of deinstitutionalization such as positioning ourselves into all taskforces, steering committee of the governments group, accreditation acquisition in which credential to the renewal of MoU with the ministry. The study on the family liked care was also carried out with collaboration from child welfare department in order to find evident-based for set up the national guideline on family liked care and strategic plan of advocacy to obtain the legal recognition of the SOS child care model.

Leader's Message

H.E Nim Thot
President

Children are an indispensable human resource for the future development of the nation. In order for human resources to have the potential, the child protection and child development are the important tasks as a partner organization of the Royal Government. We strive to continue our attention to and enhance the implementation of the Convention on Child's rights to achieve the goals of sustainable development in Cambodia 2016-2030.

H.E Sambath Sokunthea
National Director

SOS Children's Villages Cambodia is an organization that provides long-term childcare, implements alternative care policies for children and has made significant contributions to the Royal Government, continuing to invest in children today and increasing the human resources with skills and potential for the future.

Our Programmes

SOS Children's Villages Cambodia provides a range of services to support children and young people in difficult circumstances to become their strongest selves. We speak up for children's rights around the world and advocate for systemic change. Guided by the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child and the Guidelines for the Alternative Care of Children, we always work in the best interests of the child.

Child Safeguarding

*Protecting children is at the heart of what we do.
We remain ever vigilant to continuously improve our safeguarding policies and practices, and to ensure a safe and caring environment for children and young people.*

OUR CHILD SAFEGUARDING COMMITMENTS.

- We create a safe environment for children in all our programmes.
- We do not tolerate any abusive behaviour towards children, whether intentional or inadvertent, anywhere in our sphere of influence.
- We promote child protection in the communities where we work.

As outlined in our Child Protection Policy, we focus on awareness, prevention, reporting and responding to create a safe and caring environment. For us, this means an environment where children and young people feel safe, loved and cared for; where their rights are respected; and where they can raise concerns, knowing they will be listened to and their concerns acted upon swiftly and immediately.

We have learned to approach safeguarding holistically, meaning ensuring a high level of programme quality overall. We provide ongoing training for our staff, especially those working directly with children and youth, and for parents in our family strengthening programmes. We work with children to make sure they know their rights and how to report concerns. In 2020, with in-person visits limited by the pandemic, much of this work was done virtually or by phone calls..

Family Strengthening

In many places around the world, families experiencing crisis or extreme hardship may have difficulties caring for their children. Beyond receiving sufficient nutritious food or having access to water and healthcare, children need to feel protected, encouraged and respected by reliable adults who love them unconditionally.

Alternative Care

In many places around the country, families experiencing crisis or extreme hardship may have difficulties caring for their children. Beyond receiving sufficient nutritious food or having access to water and healthcare, children need to feel protected, encouraged and respected by reliable adults who love them unconditionally.

Our alternative care services is a means of provision of access to free and high quality education. This is a critical pull factor for children without parent or with inadequate care, or those who live with poor families in rural areas that cannot afford sending their children to school or paying for supplementary 'extra-classes,' or cover other educational costs.

Due to Covid-19 situation, not many new child admissions have been made. Still, we are adhering to Gatekeeping Policy, we ensured a strong identification, assessment, and referral system to ensure that children are placed in alternative care when family support is not sufficient to safeguard the child, and that if the child is placed in our alternative care, family strengthening, or kinship care the provision of care is appropriate and meets the needs of the child.

The following are the highlights of performance towards Care Promise.

- Through the year, the incident of CS of all forms was decreased significantly. From CS risk assessment, the status of risk is 75% in 2020 and 50% in 2021.
- Most of children and young people (94%) in alternative care (AC) who have a positive relationship with the family of origin.
- We promoted the social integration of SOS families and also make sure that SOS families and vulnerable families have access to existing services in the community, including social supporting networks, space to have their voice in community activities, education attendance, and self-employment and employment opportunities. Our performance is relatively high, with social integration index of 1.7 score.
- We ensure that children and young people have access to quality education. Through the year, 80% of children and young people in AC and FS with at least satisfactory educational performance. The statistic is dramatically down due to the Covid-19 pandemic

Youth Employability

Young people who have lost or are at risk of losing parental care often find the transition from school to starting a career particularly challenging, as they cannot count on the networks, resources or guidance that their peers may have access to. SOS Children's Villages, together with young people, partners and corporate volunteers, has been developing innovative ways to ensure a confident transition to independence.

GLOBAL CONTEXT

The COVID-19 pandemic gave young people across the globe a rocky start to their careers in 2020. The ILO warned of a real risk of a lost generation, citing an 8.7% employment loss among youth, more than double that for adults. Young workers were often the first to lose their jobs and also more likely to accept part-time or precarious employment. On top of this, disrupted education and lack of digital access put young people from vulnerable backgrounds at an even further disadvantage.

164

Total Number of Youth

Education

School closures imposed in 188 countries during the pandemic affected nearly 1.5 billion children and youth. Like others worldwide, our caregivers adapted to the situation, homeschooling their children and ensuring they had access to online education where available. In some places, children received laptops and tablets to stay on top of their studies. When local schools could not offer virtual classes, care practitioners and educators in SOS Children's Villages organized their own.

Through our programmes, we:

- accompany children and their families in our alternative care and family strengthening programmes on their lifelong educational journeys
- promote child-centred quality education, focusing on the child as a resourceful individual with unique skills and capabilities
- partner with authorities and communities to provide kindergartens, schools and social centres in communities that lack such facilities
- support and create inclusive learning environments that are non-discriminatory, non-violent, intercultural and gender-sensitive
- provide after-school tutoring, speech therapy, and other support to strengthen children's capacity to learn

Advocacy

Drawing on our 40 years of programme expertise, SOS Children's Villages Cambodia speaks out for and with children and young people to protect their rights on the global, regional and national level. Our advocacy work is designed to change policy and practice to improve national child and family welfare systems.

PANDEMIC RESPONSE

In 2020, we saw the urgent need to make sure that children and families' realities are part of all pandemic related policy debates. We called on governments to scale up social protection and family support services, enhance support to care leavers, and ensure that quality care is not jeopardized and basic services such as education not interrupted. With partners, we drafted policy positions, issued joint calls to actions and developed guidance on provision of alternative care in humanitarian crises to influence high-level debates, such as the UN General Assembly Special Session on COVID-19.

ADVOCATING TO KEEP FAMILIES TOGETHER

One of our main objectives is to help decision makers understand that investing in strengthening families can often prevent the unnecessary separation of children from their parents, other forms of harm and the need for additional alternative care placements. In 2020, an increasing number of our member associations engaged in the Universal Periodic Review of human rights implementation and in country reviews of the implementation of the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, thereby providing recommendations to states on how to support families to stay together.

ADVOCATING FOR QUALITY CARE

We advocate for a range of quality alternative care services according to each child's individual needs. This year, we worked on a national and global scale to promote the implementation of the 2019 UN Resolution on the Rights of the Child, focusing on children without parental care. This included strategic engagement with member associations and targeted use of user-friendly materials.

The Movement

Every child should grow up in a loving family environment, where they can experience strong and reliable relationships. By working together – with children, young people, families and communities, and with donors, partners and like-minded organizations – we can build on a movement that makes a child’s right to quality care a reality.

Sponsorship

Incredible chance for a child in need through a sponsorship program

The child sponsorship program of SOS Children's Villages is offering hope to children in need throughout the world, including those in developing countries. Sponsorships not only enable us to make a significant difference in the lives of these children, but they also contribute to something far greater. A sponsored child will be aware that someone, even on the other side of the world, is thinking about them and is concerned about their well-being when they get a sponsorship package.

Children who are sponsored by SOS Children's Villages have access to medical facilities, protection from harm, good education, and vocational training that will help them become productive members of society when they are no longer in the Village. We would like to convey our gratitude to over nine thousand child and village sponsors who have made this work possible, especially during the Covid-19 pandemic the sponsor continued to support their children and be a part of their life

Partnership Philosophy

We are grateful to have so many partners around the world who are committed to genuine social change for children and young people. Together, we will build a world where every child can become their strongest self.

Our partnerships today take shape in a variety of forms and ways. Much of our financial support comes from individuals who make donations large and small, and who also donate their time. We work with governments and institutional funding partners, and with corporates on the global and national level. Through initiatives and networks, we collaborate across sectors to find innovative solutions to broaden our impact. Especially this year, through digitalization, we are seeing the fruits of joint thinking come to bear. We partner with universities to conduct research and with other child-focused organizations on advocacy efforts, such as effecting change in child protection systems or improving quality in alternative care. We also partner with local NGOs, sharing knowledge and expertise, often serving as a multiplier. Most importantly, we partner with the children, young people and families we work with – not only on the programmatic level, but also through advocacy and by supporting their ideas for change. This year, we continued to expand our role in facilitating youth led initiatives and in ensuring that young voices are heard by policymakers. Our 70 years of experience in directly caring for children has taught us a lot about relationships. Trust, which begins with eye-level respect, is essential and takes time to develop. Good relationships also involve listening and learning from each other, whether a father from a child, a mentee from a mentor, or a non-profit from a corporate. In our partnerships, we aim to leverage the powerful potential of good reciprocal relationships built on trust, with both sides giving and receiving as well as profiting from the realization of children's rights.

Thank You All

Our national, international and local partners support our ongoing running costs and many of our innovative projects. We say thank you to those listed here and the many thousands of other partners who make our work possible.
